On 30 November 1950 ten piles of bombs each four layers high were stored in the restricted area of the Paulinenaue Railroad Station near Neuruppin (N 53/Z 49). The bombs, each about 120 cm long, 35 cm in diameter, and with a stabilizing surface of 20 cm, were stacked on sleds. The railroad station was guarded by eight soldiers wearing black epaulets. *

25X1 * Comment. 25X1

To date, the airfield at Neuruppin has not been occupied by an air unit. The arrival of bombs may indicate that the field is scheduled to be occupied.
